Dear Midwest Steel Customers,

First and foremost, we hope you and your families are safe and healthy as our Nation struggles with Coronavirus “COVID19”.

During these difficult times, Midwest Steel has implemented the necessary practices and procedures that offer the greatest amount of safety and protection possible for our employees, customers and community.

As our project operations teams continue to work at their designated worksites, they are following the processes and procedures put in place by each worksite accordingly. Our corporate team is continuing to work remotely and is available via email, phone and video conference.

Midwest Steel will continue to do our best to get past this terrible time by following the guidelines put in place by the CDC and our government, so together we can defeat this unprecedented virus together.

From all of us at Midwest Steel, we wish you and your families a safe and healthy future.
